

CHOOSING A TOPIC

- You may take suggestions, but you shouldn't allow classes to vote on their own.
- Avoid anything stereotypically male or female-slanted.
- Create a dynamic, enthralling introduction.

FINAL EXAM QUESTIONS

- What was your plan of action for this research project? How did you proceed and in what stages?
- Did you try to take any shortcuts? Did they work? Explain.
- What did you learn about researching along the way?
- Any speed bumps encountered?
- Which elements were most effective for you?

Having time to work in class?

Dividing the project into small mountains rather than one large one?

Encountering no penalties for correcting your mistakes early on?

Anything else?

- Briefly explain the following:

Footnotes

Bibliography

Plagiarism

- Did you find yourself changing your opinion in regard to any aspect of the topic? Explain.
- Can you offer any suggestions for how the project might be run differently next year?
